

Festival of the Trees

Please help us fill Hancock County Arts' Twenty North Art Gallery, at 20-A N. State St., in Greenfield, with beautiful Christmas trees this December.

All businesses and not-for-profit organizations in Hancock County are invited to decorate a tree representing their identity. To participate, check for updates on our events calendar tab at <http://www.hancockcountyarts.com>. To donate and enter a tree, email us at hancockcountyarts@gmail.com. Entry is free.

Each tree will be collection point for its sponsor's favorite cause. The public will be welcomed in the first half of December to visit the display, vote for their favorite tree, and bring an unwrapped gift donation to put under the tree of their choice. Voting will also be available on Facebook. Winners will be announced Dec. 17. Sponsors may choose to donate their tree to families in need and brighten their season.

It's a great way to increase awareness of your business or organization and also a wonderful way to bring some Christmas cheer to downtown Greenfield. Be sure to enter soon, as space is limited.

Trees will be welcomed November 28-30. The gallery will be open from 2-5 p.m. for decorating. Trees may range in height from 5 to 12 feet. Larger trees may be accommodated, but please contact us to make those arrangements at hancockcountyarts@gmail.com.
